

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method for the publication of a fully personalized and completely customized story is provided. The 5 system and method include providing a blank label, a blank board book, and a base software program or module using a general purpose computer for accepting completely variable creative content and controlling the printing of the content to the blank labels.